“ Addison was well liked and loved by many friends and relatives To me, he was a cornerstone of the Wheelock Clan and the Long Lake And Lake Ann communities. I simply can't find words to console Sonny and Randy for their loss When you work together in a close family business you have special bonds with the family members you work with And you also have special memories. Keep your memories close to your hearts None of us escapes the march of time Addison would be proud to see his boys take over the Wheelock legacy Be glad your parents are together again and smile when you think of them together. Addison will be missed by all of us who knew him

“ The Shugart family has a long, warm, working relationship with the Wheelock family. It started years and years ago with Vern and Addison. Anything Vern asked Addison if he could possibly make for him, Addison was able to pull it off. Vern thought the world of Addison and that fondness passed to his son Greg. Addison was a honorable hard working man and he taught his sons the same characteristics.
