“ Wow! Brian was my friend in Los Angles . We had a painting company together there. He helped me with a trade I knew nothing about and I helped him with the money to get it going. I also ended up selling him a house in Rialto. I always wondered what happened to Brian. I knew he was close to his mother and I believe she passed away and that some money came his way. He married this girl that was his tenant with kids and then after that I never heard from him again. I see his picture here, yep, that's the Brian that help me survive in California for 17 years. For those of you reading this, maybe he had mentioned me. I know he had a brother.

“ As Beth said, Brian spoke to many of us in the call center. My husband and I gave him a roof over his head for a few weeks a few years ago. He was such a gracious man and so pleasant to talk to. No matter how hard life was, he always stayed positive and very pleasant. We will miss him!

“ For the last four years or so I've had the pleasure of speaking to Brian. Although we have never met in person I have shared life stories with him as he has with me. Each time Brian would call in he made it a point to get to know each of us here in the call center. Although there have been many of us over the years; he would remember all of us and recall the last conversations, picking up right where we left off. It was always a pleasure to hear from him, knowing he cared for us the way we cared for him. We will all miss him greatly and miss the weekly (or daily) calls. Brian was a good man and I am blessed to have known him.
