“ We are so very sorry for your loss. She will be missed. I always remember her going by the house in the summertime driving her red blazer and waving and the Joe coming to work saying Mom asked now which one is that again she was always getting my sister and I mixed up. And then there is halloween always made sure to take the girls up there trick or treating before we went into town for the evening, they always got 1 or 2 of the big candy bars and we always chatted a while before we left. Going to miss that!
