Traverse City - John J. Price, 64, of Traverse City and formerly of Waterford, passed away Monday, December 24, 2012 at Munson Hospice House with his wife by his side.

After graduating from college in Massachusetts, John became one of the EMT's in Detroit before entering the police academy. John began his career in police work in Detroit before moving to Bloomfield Township and retired from there after many years of service.

John enjoyed the outdoors, was an avid hunter, played golf in a league at Elmbrook and loved every opportunity to be on the water. “ It's still so hard to believe that John is not with us anymore, but where he is now is good.
I knew John more than half of my lifetime that I've lived so far. I remember the true John, before he became ill. For a very long time, I've thought of him as the other half of my sister; Glynnis and John, as if the two were one.
I'm looking forward to telling and hearing stories about John at the memorial. We'll laugh and cry together and celebrate John's life.

With much love,

Romy

“ We'll always remember John as a good friend to Lake Arbutus and to those who enjoyed its pristine environment. He was always willing to pitch in. He was always "real" saying what he thought and meaning it...never phony. He was a good guy and a good friend and a patriot. He loved Glynnis and Lake Arbutus and his country and he helped to make the lake a beautiful place to live. We will miss him. Love, John and Gail Hoffman
