“ I remember my father as a kind man. Who was true and supportive of his friends and especially his family. He was witty and always had a good joke to pass, and full of common sense which made him the smartest man I know. He lived a long and fulfilling life and I will miss him dearly. Dad, if you are listening as I write this and you finally get into heaven after talking St. Peter's ear off, give Mom a hug for us and my dog Norman a pat on the head, love you very much, your son.
