“ Being the youngest of six kids I had many to look up to. Teri and I had a special bond. She was 10yrs old when I was born and I think she thought of me as hers. I loved being in the kitchen with her making cookies. Years later she would be in the kitchen with my boys Brandon and Ryan--who called her TT. Teri was in nursing school at Delta college and I got to visit her for a weekend. I made a list of things I would need...pjs, toothbrush, a shrit (shirt of course that I spelled wrong) and for breakfast? Cocoa-Piffs...she loved the missed spelled words!!! She had a strong personality but I believe it all came from love and wanting to be loved. Well you are loved and missed Very much! And as she would say to the nieces and nephews....LYM...Love You Madly TT.
